

CHILDREN & YOUTH

BULLETIN VIII

Aqua Girl

From the National website by Sue Gooch,
National Children & Youth
Committee Vice Chairman.

“Do you remember when you were a small child and had to go into that big scary place called a hospital for a surgical procedure? Remember how frightened and lonely you were, mom and dad couldn’t stay, but could only visit? You wished you had someone to be there with you, maybe mom or dad or even your dog – “Josh.” Yes, Josh, that loveable yellow dog whom you could hold, squeeze, and talk to during your time of need.

“Josh” and his book, I’ll be O.K., have helped children through many hospital visits and G.I. Josh is available to help children cope while their parents are deployed. Every child needs a little comfort during this trying time. So many questions run through a child’s mind, such as, “is my mommy or daddy coming home?” “Will they remember me?” “Did I do something wrong that made them leave?” These questions and others will be answered through the book, I’ll Be O.K. The child can seek comfort knowing Josh will be there to help them through this lonely time. Learn more about Josh and G.I. Josh, visit www.joshandfriends.com

When we seek information from different resources we can implement new ideas into our C & Y projects.

Plan a Poster Design Contest! This would be a great activity for children at your next event. Design a handmade 8 ½ x11 poster showing how they benefit from the freedoms embodied in the U.S. Constitution. The poster should feature any aspects of the Constitution, Bill of Rights & Amendments. Then attach their design to an entry form. Entry forms found on the www.ConstituionFacts.com. Entries due by October 1, 2018. The first 100 entries receives a free pocket size guide to the Constitution. Winners will be announced on November 9, 2018. Winners will receive a Constitution commemorative coin and the Grand prize will receive a $100. Winning posters will be displayed on their website www.ConstituionFacts.com.

*Do you know who was called the “Expounder of the Constitution?”
Answer: Daniel Webster (1792-1852) of Massachusetts*

Dee Ann Graham, C & Y Chairman
12509 Stonington St. Bakersfield, CA 93312
C: 661.364.1892 email: papaspot4647@sbcglobal.net